INTRODUCTION

Opening Illustration

How well do you know your spouse?

- Favorite flower?
- Favorite color?
- Favorite meal?
- Favorite vacation?

Those answers don't create the relationship.

They reveal the relationship.

Imagine someone saying,

"I've been married twenty years... but I couldn't tell you what my wife likes."

We would all recognize that something is missing.

Not because relationships are built on favorites...

But because relationships naturally learn what matters to the one they love.

Many Christians have worshiped God for years...

Yet have never asked,

"What does God like?"

Introduce the Text

Jeremiah 9:23–24

God tells us not to glory in:

- Wisdom
- Might
- Riches

Instead...

"...that he understandeth and knoweth Me."

The greatest privilege in life is knowing God.

Today we'll ask three simple questions.

I. Do You Know God's Favorite Flower?

Exodus 25:31–40

God chose the almond blossom for the golden lampstand.

Numbers 17:8

Aaron's rod:

- budded
- blossomed
- produced almonds

God confirmed His choice.

Jeremiah 1:11–12

The almond tree illustrated God's watchfulness over His Word.

Ecclesiastes 12:5

The almond blossom remained meaningful throughout Scripture.

We didn't simply discover God's favorite flower.

We discovered:

God never wastes details.

God continually meets with His people.

Lord's Supper

CONCLUSION

So...

What have we learned?

We didn't simply discover God's favorite flower...

We discovered that God never wastes details.

We didn't simply discover God's favorite colors...

We discovered that God teaches through purposeful beauty.

We didn't simply discover God's favorite meal...

We discovered that God continually invites His people into fellowship.

Return to Jeremiah

The greatest privilege is not:

- Wisdom
- Strength
- Wealth

The greatest privilege is:

"...that he understandeth and knoweth Me."

Final Challenge

The more we learn what matters to God...

The more we come to know God Himself.
